

Edmund T. Carroll III, D.O.

Board Certified in Orthopaedic Surgery

Welcome to Orthopaedic Associates of Southern Delaware

As a board certified orthopaedic surgeon with fellowship training in adult joint reconstruction, my specialized training and experience gives me unrivaled expertise in hip and knee replacements. In addition to total joint replacements, I also perform a variety of outpatient procedures and developed the first outpatient partial knee replacement program in Sussex County. I am also pleased to be involved in the development of a Platelet Rich Plasma (PRP) program at OASD in the treatment of various knee disorders.

Growing up in a family of medical professionals, I knew I wanted to work in the medical field from a young age. I was recruited by the Rochester Institute of Technology after high school to play ice hockey, while earning my degree in engineering. After working for a pharmaceutical firm, I quickly realized I wanted more interaction with patients and a hands on approach to helping them. This led me to earn a Doctor of Osteopathy degree from the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine where I developed an interest in Orthopaedic surgery. A fellowship in joint replacements at the University of Chicago followed and I joined Orthopaedic Associates of Southern Delaware in 2005 to expand their total joint program.

I am focused on working with patients to provide customized treatment plans to optimize outcomes. My goal is to give my patients a new lease on life by eliminating their pain and mobility issues.

Sincerely,
